Fire damages St. Michaels duplex

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison firefighters responded to a fire at about 12:15 p.m. on Monday that caused heavy damage to a duplex in the 400 block of St. Michaels Avenue.

Trucks arrived from nearby Walnut Street Fire Company No. 4 and Fair Play Fire Company No. 1 just seconds after a 911 dispatch that heavy smoke was showing from the two-story frame structure.

Battalion Chief Travis Conover and Deputy Chief Kenny Washer both arrived at about the same time and started assessing the situation and working to deploy equipment.

But well before hoses could be charged and water put on the blaze, smoke had intensified and flames began to spread throughout the first floor as well as from windows and the building.

One of the residents, Eugene Murray, said he was upstairs when the fire began and went downstairs to investigate after he thought he maybe smelled smoke. Murray said he was looking around the first floor in an effort to identify the source when he saw smoke coming from a closet under a stairwell. He opened the door and more smoke poured out as well as flames.

Murray was able to evacuate his family from the building without injury but he had to leave the home without a shirt on his back.

With doors open the fire quickly spread to other rooms

Patty Cooper Wells is shown painting on the River of Kindness Mural in the section that's being dedicated to the work of local artist Lou Knoble. At the bottom, it reads: "In honor of artist Lou Knoble" with the phrase, "Searching for Eternity" in which Cooper Wells says Knoble has used to refer to his art.

Murals transforming a parking lot into something beautiful

BY BOB DEMAREE

Fifty years after becoming a city parking lot, the northeast corner of Second and Mulberry streets is undergoing another transformation.

A space for overflow street parking since 1971, the corner is being transformed into a destination park with hand-painted murals on the surrounding walls in the spirit of kindness and community. The transformation will continue once the murals are done with plans by the City of Madison to landscape the side and include benches and other amenities.

As the murals move toward completion, a special event has been planned by the Madison Area Arts Alliance for Saturday — an "All for the Wall" Celebration of

Striping planned as Main Street project nears completion

BY BOB DEMAREE

Work on Main Street is approaching its final phase with striping getting underway this week, it was announced by Deputy Mayor Mindy McGee at Monday's meeting of the Board of Public Works and Safety.

McGee said Traffic Control Specialists, a subcontractor hired by Dave O'Mara Contractors was marking final layouts on Monday, and making hash marks along the project area. Once final markings are complete, work can begin on mainline painting, which involves the long stripes.

"There will not be any traffic interruption or lane restriction, or closing related to this work," said McGee.

She said work will involve one truck driving by and laying down the paint followed by a chaser truck. McGee said a fast-dry lane paint that has reflective beads will be used. "Typically we use the thermal plastic, which is the thicker application that is heated to the road. That does not adhere to liquid road. So this is reflective paint instead."

McGee said the solution "dries in a couple of minutes so there is not a lot of traffic disruption," so it will happen during the day during regular traffic. However, she said "drivers should have a heads-up and be aware that if there's striping going on to get in the opposite lane."

On Wednesday and Thursday nights, McGee said Traffic Control Specialists will work on crosswalks, stop bars at the stop lights and parking markings from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. to do that work when there is less traffic. McGee noted that no parking signs are being posted along the route so that no one parks in the areas while the night work is being done. "Once they are done with a

Grant to provide health department funding for virus liaison to schools

BY BOB DEMAREE

Funding coming to the Jefferson County Health Department will be used to more effectively assist county schools with the COVID-19 pandemic while helping to better organize space in the health department building.

At Tuesday's County Council meeting, County Health Administrator Tammy Monroe said that earlier that day confirmation was received that the health department has been awarded a $220,000 grant related to COVID-19. The grant has requirements, specifically addressing COVID-19 assistance to schools.

Monroe said she would like to use part of that money to create two positions — one a nurse and the other a clerical position — to provide the health department a liaison to work with the schools on COVID-19. "Every time a school has an outbreak, it takes a lot of time to help the schools through that situation," she said. Additionally, that nurse would assist in administering vaccines at the schools.

Council member Heather Foy noted that a school liaison nurse "would take a burden off the schools" and Monroe agreed it would be a "great asset for our schools, our school nurses and the health department."

Additionally, Monroe said the new positions will strengthen the health department staff. "We have relied heavily on our volunteers to help us" throughout the pandemic, she said. "Our volunteers have been great but our volunteers are starting to get tired."

Monroe said as long as stipulations of the grant are met, part of the funding can used in other ways to benefit the health department, which she said could include adapting the health department building to be more effectively utilized. "We desperately need storage. We are busting at the seams," she said.

Monroe said she believes there is space in the health department building to do that, but "we just need to do some rearranging."

She cited the reception area as an example. "We have a big reception area that we don't really need. We have wasted space that I can't really use" that could become usable if a contractor is hired to more effectively divide the space within the building.

Monroe also reported the health department last week received $130,000 as part of the COVID-19 vaccine reimbursement, which covered January through June. Monroe said future increments of reimbursement will be smaller since they will now be receiving those funds monthly.

and up through the house. Once the windows started going, the structure was quickly engulfed.

Firefighters attacked the fire and worked to prevent spread to nearby homes and buildings while additional companies arrived at the scene and a crowd of onlookers and neighbors gathered along St. Michaels Avenue and the nearby alleys.

Firefighters were being released from the scene by about 3 p.m. but no other details were available at that time.

section, people can park there again, but to give them a clean work space," she said. "That's mostly hand work so we want to be sure to keep them safe." She said work will be done from Jefferson Street west to the Crooked Creek Bridge.

McGee said the last part of the project will be on Hanover Hill, where there will be crack sealing, along with mastic for the deeper cracks. She said that work will be done by National Pavement Maintenance, which should be back on site by the first week of November. She said that company had to leave earlier in order to do a job it had contracted to do with the Indianapolis Airport. When that project begins, she said the work will be done in one lane with flaggers guiding drivers around. "We don't have a estimate on how long that will take," said McGee. She estimated it would take a few days, but once it's done, "that will be the final piece on this whole project."

Madison Mayor Bob Courtney said the Main Street project has been "one of the more challenging ones that we have done all across the city." He praised the work of McGee, along with Kenny Washer of the street department. "Lot of traffic, lot of closures initially. A lot planning went into it, community meetings went into it," he said. "Thank you for all the work you've put into it, and I think it will pay dividends for us."

the Mulberry Murals from 2-4 p.m. The celebration, which everyone is welcome to attend, will highlight the public arts project consisting of five murals in the Mulberry Street Parking lot in downtown Madison. The event will thank donors and introduce and recognize the talented artists who have worked over the summer and fall to complete the project. In addition to meeting the artists, and viewing their finished murals, the Bluebird Alley Band and Rusty Bladen will perform music.

The mural project is the largest public arts project so far by the Madison Area Arts Alliance and was conceived more than four years ago with the organization applying and receiving a CreatINg Places grant from the Indiana Housing and Community Development Authority (IHCDA) through the Patronicity platform to fund the work. That grant, along with the support of many donors and volunteers, allowed the project to move forward.

Since early spring, the five colorful murals have been created on buildings surrounding the parking lot. The first mural completed was the Kindness Mural located on the former Hentz Bakery building, a colorful declaration of the community's commitment to kindness. Inspired by Jane Vonderheide's vivid heart painting, the original work of artist Steve Bickis captures a strong graphic of Kindness with a view of Madison's riverfront. Artist Kevin Carlson accompanied Bickis to complete the mural in just five weeks.

It's an amazing transformation with once blank walls now full of color in a corner that was once the home of the Horace Volz dealership for 32 years before in 1969 Volz decided to move the dealership to the hilltop.

With a need for more downtown parking, a deal was reached with City Council and downtown merchants to purchase the property in December of 1969 and raze the dealership building once Volz moved to the hilltop. That move didn't take place until a year later in December of 1970, and by that time Hearl Brogan Chevrolet of Middletown, Ohio, had bought the business from Volz in July of 1970.

Now in 2021, there's a whole new look and purpose for the property, highlighting positiveness and affirmations while sharing the story of Madison.

What started as a Kindness Mural has expanded to the walls all around the parking lot. Madison artist Patty Cooper Wells has painted on the mural, and said she's experienced a lot of kindness while spending time in the parking lot the last few months.

"Being here has been gratifying and enjoyable," she said. "Every day I've heard people from the community and visitors thanking me for what we're doing. They've been really nice, and it's really good to get to know the neighborhood."

Moving east from the Kindness Mural on a Local Color portion of the mural that consists of Orbs painted by a collection of area artists coordinated by Cooper Wells. Art palettes are interspersed with the various works which are tied together with a ribbon painted by Carlson.

Many area artists have come together to create Madison scenes and topics related to Madison and Jefferson County. For example, Eric Phagan painted a scene of the Miss Madison that won the 1971 Gold Cup, Brenda Shropshire added Jimmy from the No. 1 Fairplay Fire Company, Beejay Elles did a depiction of the red caboose that's outside the Jefferson County Historical Museum, Marshall Falconberry drew a scene from the incline railroad and Dallas Gambill did a river scene.

In all, 19 artists have contributed so far. Others include Debi Black, Carolyn Lopez, Mary Heath Bischof, Hannah Peddie Miller, Cheryl Byers, Teresa Waller, Russell Vossler, Cindie Underwood Vanderbur and Jenny Straub Applegate, along with groups of artists called "The Creatives" that include teens who meet at the SPOT (Supporting People of Talent), home to the Madison Area Arts Alliance at 326 Mulberry Street.

Next is the Living Color portion of the wall designed and painted by Cooper Wells which features Edward Eggleston, the novelist who wrote "The Hoosier Schoolmaster" that's noted for its realistic depictions of 19th century America rural life and for its use of local dialect. Eggleston, who was born in Vevay, lived for awhile in Madison where he was known to ride the three-wheeled tricycle that he's shown riding in the mural. The wall features a palette of strong colors made with hundreds of painted dots which community members, students and visitors helped Cooper Wells complete in the community engagement portion of the mural.

The final mural on the former Hentz Bakery building is artist Jacob Louden's creation, the Living Tree, a 10-foot 'selfie wall' where participants can appear to be swinging on a tree swing off of a 10-foot gold and multicolored tree.

The mural work continues on the side of the Jefferson County Amusements building at 213 East Second Street, owned by Steve Lyons. Cooper Wells has been on site the most, over-seeing the project and doing all of the 84-foot River of Kindness Mural on the east side of the parking lot. That mural tells Madison's story with river and transportation, beginning with Harry Lemen, a Madison attorney who was an amateur photographer widely recognized for his photos, particularly of buildings and scenes from Madison.

The mural begins with a brownie camera that Lemen was known to use and next shows a depiction of one of Lemen's iconic photos of Darby Davis and his wife, Mae, relaxing along the Ohio River while floating by the Island Queen, built primarily as an excursion boat to Coney Island in Cincinnati.

After that, there is a section that, while maintaining the flow through the river history, also recognizes the art of Lou Knoble, known not just for his art but for his success as a teacher and coach at Madison Consolidated High School.

"Lou Knoble is one of the coolest artists," said Cooper Wells, who worked to depict Knoble's style of geometric patterns that sometimes transform into abstraction. Toward the bottom of the Knoble tribute section, are the words: "In honor of artist Lou Knoble" followed with "Searching for eternity," a phrase Knoble has used in connection with his art. There are also three paper boats, an element that Cooper Wells said Knoble has used in his art.

Kim Nyberg, executive director of the Madison Area Arts Alliance, has high praise for the work and commitment of Cooper Wells on the project.

"Patty has poured her heart into creating a strong piece which defines Madison's river and rail heritage. She is a character, and everyone in the neighborhood has enjoyed seeing her over the months this summer creating and coordinating the walls," Nyberg said. "I think a favorite piece of the River of Kindness mural is Patty's personal nod to Madison artist icon, Lou Knoble. She has incorporated his unique painting style into her mural and is a really cool part of the mural."

A native of Queensville in Jennings County, Cooper Wells moved to Madison in 2000 because of the community's arts, music and culture, and her affection for the downtown historic district. She's had a lifelong interest art.

"When I was a kid, I had a talent for it, and when you're doing it a lot, you get better," she said. After graduating from Jennings County High School, she went on to study with Paul Neufelder in Columbus during the 1990s. Her first work in murals was in Vernon. After moving to Madison, she was hired to do murals at Joey G's, now the Broadway Taproom at 218 West Main Street, with her art reflecting the popular music still being performed there.

"I like to tell a story with my art," said Cooper Wells, something she loves about the Mulberry mural project because that's exactly what artists have been able to do with the murals there. She noted one viewer told her, "If this doesn't tell the story, I don't know what will."

Just past the Knoble tribute section are four quilts, capturing different quilt types from the Log Cabin, Flying Geese, North Star and Monkey Wrench to the Drunkards Path. Then a dog running keeps the transition going, followed by the locomotive Reuben Cooper Wells, a recognition of Indiana's first railroad linking the Madison, Indianapolis, Lafayette lines. The arrival of the train as transportation brought change to Madison, initially one the largest cities in the state with the river providing the best transportation in the state's early history.

As trains and roads moved transportation modes to land, Madison's population began to stagnate and the city fell behind other cities in population, yet still maintained its historical character and connection to the river.

At the end of the mural is a night scene with a woman and man looking toward the river with a New Orleans steamboat and a log cabin. Cooper Wells says it captures the 1850s going back to the pioneer days.

On the back side of the Jefferson County Amusement building, Cooper Wells has begun to sketch out Roy Gentry, a musician who often performed in Madison, to represent the city's musical tradition. "He influenced a lot other musicians in the area," said Cooper Wells, noting Gentry died in 2017.

Additionally, with the veteran's office being nearby, Cooper Wells plans to include art on that wall recognizing local veterans.

Another part of the project is the development of the SPOT, located just a few steps from the mural, creating a place for the local creative community to meet, create and gather in Madison.

The Madison Area Arts Alliance was established in 2014. Nyberg said they are working to build, inspire and nurture a sustainable arts movement within the Madison and Jefferson County region. Anyone wanting more information about the Arts Alliance and its programs can contact Kim Nyberg at 812-801-9863 or email artsherenow@gmail.com.

Girlfriend changed her tune

Dear Annie: I've been in a relationship for about three years.

Both of us are estranged from our spouses. We stayed in marriages because of our children and are still married now for other reasons. We both struggled with spouses who slept around. Neither of us had a relationship outside of our marriages until now.

Before we met, my friend slept in a room in the back of their house, crying herself to sleep every night. I slept on the sofa, taking antidepressants and seeing a counselor. (I moved out three years ago.)

My friend lives overseas. We text and email constantly, with occasional phone calls and Zooms. Prior to COVID-19, we saw each other about every three or four months.

Around the time COVID-19 started, my friend's son-in-law died, leaving behind a pregnant wife and young child. My friend and her estranged husband got together and took their daughter and her family in.

In doing so, they all became very close, and my friend reconnected with her husband. She now sleeps with him. I'm having difficulties with this. Knowing that my wife slept around was difficult for me, and I find this situation challenging, too.

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

I told my friend that I just want her to be happy, and if being with her husband makes her happy, I'm OK with that; I'll go. She ignored what I had to say. We continue to text and are looking forward to seeing each other again.

She is constantly saying that she loves me and wants a future with me. And she reminds me that I'm better off being in a relationship with her now than I was before. That's true. I was really unhappy before and have never been so happy as I am now with her.

We previously talked about a future together and had plans. Now when I ask her about that future and when we should act on it, I'm ignored. I'm not sure where to go from here.

I've considered looking for someone else, but I've never been much for dating. And I continue to deal with depression. It's all really difficult to sort through.

I'm not sure where to go or what to do — any thoughts? — Missing My Girlfriend

Dear Missing: Where you go from here is up to you, especially because you are in a hurtful relationship right now. Your girlfriend is back with her husband and not with you. Next time she tells you that she loves you and wants a future, pay more attention to her actions and not her words.

For now, cut off communication with her while you are dealing with your own life. It is understandable that you are depressed when you thought you were in a relationship with a future. The good news is that once you realize and accept that she is not the one and that you will be better off without her, you can move on.

In moving on, continue your treatment for depression and try to see that the ball and chain of her lies are now gone and you are free to find someone who loves and accepts you. Set her free so your special someone can find you. She is out there just waiting for you to be done with your ex-girlfriend. You sound like a caring man, and I have no doubt you will find someone.

Age gap is inappropriate

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: My husband is 59 years old and thinks it is OK to ogle young girls less than 18 years of age — more like 15 to 16. He does this with me present and says it is natural behavior and that all men do it.

I say it is disrespectful to me and resembles pedophile behavior. I am 64 years old, and he had an affair with a 29-year-old female about a year ago. What is your opinion? — Feeling the Sting of Growing Old

Dear Feeling Old: I'm not sure why your husband's actions are making you feel old instead of disgusted. You should dump him. His pedophile behavior — and, yes, that is what it is — has nothing to do with your age and everything to do with his Lolita complex. He needs to seek treatment immediately. A 59-year-old man staring at 15-year-old girls and having an affair with a girl in her 20s? You can do better.

Dear Annie: I was married for 10 years to the father of my 40-year-old daughter. We divorced when she was 7; he left me to continue a relationship I didn't know he was having. That lasted six months. He has since been married twice more and had many other relationships between and during those marriages. The thing is, I had no idea he was not monogamous until he left.

I have always been well-employed and capable of supporting myself and our daughter without a second income. Before he left me, he took a distant job that uprooted me, with my compliance, because we were married and, I thought, happy. We moved again, and I went along.

Less than a month after he left me, several longtime friends told me they knew of his affairs before our daughter was born. My point: People in a relationship, or who think they're in a relationship, with a player deserve to know about it as soon as their friends do. I would never have temporarily short-circuited my career, left my home city, or packed and unpacked households endlessly had I known about his predilections. Thank goodness he left when he did!

It's been 33 years. My daughter and I are close; I have a great life and career. But I'm weighing in because of the queasiness I read here on this subject; just like you'd tell a friend that she has spinach in her teeth or toilet paper on her shoe, for heaven's sake, give her a heads up if you're certain that her spouse repeatedly acts single when she's not around.

To answer an unspoken question, I never felt angry at my friends. Enough time was already wasted. — The Truth Set Me Free

Dear Truth: It sounds like you made great steps toward creating a wonderful life without your husband. Thank you for your letter.

Rally falls short as Shawe loses to Lanesville

BY JORDAN BEAR

SELLERSBURG — It was a heartbreaking night for Shawe's volleyball team with a five-set loss to Lanesville in the championship match of the Class A Sectional at Rock Creek on Saturday.

The Hilltoppers had swept four-time defending sectional champion Rock Creek in the morning semifinals. But as well as Shawe played in that match, the Hilltoppers played just the opposite in the championship against Lanesville.

Shawe dropped the first two sets against Lanesville 25-20 and 25-16. Nervous and tentative, the young Hilltoppers were unable to get any kind of groove going while falling apart in the second-set loss.

"Give credit to Lanesville in those first two sets. They outplayed us and we simply had no answer," Shawe coach Jeff Lawson said. "I think the girls thought this would be a little easier, but they quickly realized it wasn't."

Despite the second-set collapse, the Hilltoppers were able to wake up in the third set and crawl back into the match. The set went back and forth before Shawe pulled out a 25-23 victory to stay alive. The Hilltoppers then dominated the fifth set 25-16 to force the winner-take-all fifth set.

But Shawe seemed gassed by the physical and emotional marathon by the tiebreaker and Lanesville led from start to finish to win 15-6 and claim just their second sectional championship

Silver Creek rolls over Madison in 3A sectional rematch

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison's hopes of winning its first sectional title in four years fell apart quickly as Silver Creek rolled to an easy 3-0 win in the semifinals of the Class 3A Sectional at Scottsburg on Saturday morning.

The Cubs had knocked off Creek in five sets earlier in the season but any thoughts of a repeat performance were dashed quickly as the Dragons rolled to the 25-18, 25-8, 25-18 win.

Madison found itself quickly in deep holes in each of the first two sets. The Cubs trailed 11-1 in the opener, but rebounded to close the gap to 20-15 before Silver Creek put away the win.

The second set was a disaster start to finish. After playing to a 2-2 tie early, the Cubs seemed powerless as Creek ripped off an 18-2 run to take a commanding 20-4 lead before cruising to the 25-8 win.

The third set was by far the best for Madison but the end result was the same. The Cubs trailed only 15-13 at one point but ended up losing by seven.

Madison managed only 16 kills in the match with Chloe Preocanin picking up eight kills on 35 attempts and Kallie Eder getting six on 20 attempts. Preocanin also led the team in digs with nine while Eder had eight.

Ava Armbrecht was 10-of-13 serving with two aces and also had 11 assists, Taylor Harsin was 10-of-12 serving with an ace, two kills, and eight digs, Lexi Sullivan had eight digs, and Brooklyn Cornelius had six digs.

Silver Creek went on to defeat Scottsburg in the championship match, 25-20, 25-19, 25-14. The Dragons will take on Barr-Reeve in the regional semifinals Saturday at Charlestown.

Madison ends the volleyball season with a strong 20-9 record, its first winning season since the 2017 team went 25-11 and won its first sectional title in 20 years. That squad was also eliminated by Silver Creek, but in the regional round.

The Cubs graduate four seniors: Cornelius, Harsin, Addi Mundt and Jenna Rohrer, but also return several key starters including hitters Preocanin and Eder and setter Armbrecht.

Six advance after strong regional cross country runs

David Campbell

Shawe's Calli Alderman was the top local runner at the cross country regional, running fifth overall in the girls race.

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Three local girls and three local boys all punched their tickets to the next round after impressive runs in the IHSAA Cross Country Regional at Ceraland Park near Columbus on Saturday.

Shawe's Calli Alderman, Switzerland's Claire Rogers and Madison's Ava Spencer each finished in the top 10 among individuals from non-advancing teams to qualify for the semistate at Brown County on the girls side. On the boys side, Switzerland County's Cooper Hon, Madison's Logan Ferris and Shawe's Sam Fewell each also qualified.

After finishing second to Rogers at the Ohio River Valley Conference championships and third in the sectional, Alderman turned the tables in the regional by placing fifth overall with a time of 19:12.1 while Rogers was 11th overall in 19:52.4 and Spencer was 22nd in 20:39.3.

As a team, Switzerland County ran eighth with 171 points and missed qualifying for the semistate by 23 points. Other finishes for the Pacers were: Alisha Detmer, 40th, 22:02.8; Carlee Boggs, 52nd, 22:36.5; Ashlyn Covington, 57th, 22:53.3; Amber Detmer, 63rd, 23:53.1; and Brianna Stow, 81st, 30:29.5.

Madison offense sputters in 34-0 loss to Seymour

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Madison's once-potent offense was stuck in neutral for the second-straight week and the result was a 34-0 loss to Seymour in the regular-season finale on Friday at Cub Field.

A week after being held to just 68 total yards in a loss to Bedford North Lawrence, Madison managed just 140 against Seymour while being shut out for the first time this season. The Cubs crossed the midfield stripe just twice during the game and never seriously threatened to score as the Owls pulled away for the win.

"That's a rough one. That's all I can say right now," Madison coach Leroy Wilson said. "That's a really rough game."

Seymour (3-5) didn't blow the game open quickly, but instead, slowly took over. The Owls scored their first touchdown on the first play of the second quarter on a 5-yard pass from Bret Perry to Owen Anderson and added a 19-yard score from Perry to Jaylen Johnson — as well as a two-point conversion — late in the half to take a 14-0 lead at the break.

It wasn't a daunting lead, but considering how hard it was for Madison to even move the ball, it proved insurmountable.

Seymour finally blew the game open with a pair of touchdowns in the third quarter — one for 14 yards from Perry to Johnson and the other a 1-yard run by Sam Allman — to take total control of the game. A final score in the fourth on a 27-yard pass from Perry to Allman, sealed the margin.

Madison, which had collected nearly 1,500 passing yards over the previous eight games, netted just 44 on Friday as quarterback Kaden Oliver was 6-of-11 passing and junior all-state receiver Colin Yancey had four catches for 36 yards. The Cubs gained 96 yards on the ground, with Christian Bell's 26 yards leading the way.

"When the offense looks like that, that's rough. And they gave us a lot of different things, and we second-guessed, we didn't pull the trigger fast enough," Wilson said. "We're still a little banged up but again that's not an excuse. If you're not going to play the game the way it's supposed to be played, it's gonna be really really hard."

Seymour finished the game with 290 total yards. Perry was 12-of-24 passing for 180 yards.

Madison, now 3-6 on the season, hosts South Dearborn on Friday in the opening round of the Class 4A Football Sectional Tournament. The Cubs beat the Knights 29-26 in week two and Wilson knows that his team will need to be ready to play.

"Somehow we've got to bounce back and get ready for sectionals next week," Wilson said. "We have struggled the last three weeks trying to do that. So it's gonna be back to the drawing board, figure out how we get these dudes to refocus and come back out and get ready for next Friday."

HANOVER ROUNDUP

Panthers roll over Defiance 51-0 in football

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Hanover football had little trouble with Defiance, rolling to a 51-0 win at home on Saturday.

The Panthers scored two touchdowns in the first quarter and then added three more in the second to take a commanding 35-0 lead by halftime and cruise from there.

Hanover's first score came on a 10-yard pass from Matthew Weimer to Eric Roudebush and the second the courtesy of senior Shawn Coane, who added to his career record total with a 2-yard run. A pair of Pedro Paixao extra points gave the Panthers a 14-0 lead.

Jayan Kent then returned a fumble 20 yards for Hanover's next score and the Panthers closed the half with a 3-yard scoring run by Walt Ballinger and a 7-yard TD reception by Jared Frank from Weimer for the 35-0 lead.

Austin Oppel scored on a 12-yard run, Paixao hit a 10-yard field goal, and Chris Forehand returned an interception 62 yards for the touchdown to wrap up Hanover's scoring.

Hanover finished the game with 433 total yards with Weimer passing for 238 yards on 22-of-27 attempts. Coane had 138 yards rushing on 13 attempts and Frank caught five passes for 79 yards.

Defensively, Caleb Brewster had seven tackles and a forced fumble on the day, Jayleem Santos had five tackles, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery, and Jamey Deckard had five tackles.

Hanover, 3-3 overall and 2-1 Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference, travels to Bluffton this Saturday.

WOMEN WHIP DEFIANCE

Hanover's undefeated women's soccer posted another impressive result, hammering Defiance 5-0 on the road on Saturday.

Beth Cook, Kelsey Hughes, Autumn Boothby, Maggie Day and Molly Johnson each scored goals for the Panthers, who improved to 6-0 in the HCAC. Bryn Rolfsen had two assists and Ainsleigh Spaulding had one.

Hanover held a dominating 37-0 advantage in shots, including 24-0 on goal. The Panthers also had 12 corner kick chances to none for the Yellow Jackets.

Southwestern bows out to South Ripley

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Southwestern's strong 2021 volleyball campaign came to an end on a three-set loss to South Ripley in the semifinals of the Class 2A Sectional on Saturday afternoon in Versailles.

The Rebels were hoping to avenge their only conference loss of the season but the host Raiders had different ideas, easily winning all three sets 25-14, 25-19 and 25-13.

In each set, Southwestern fell behind early and had trouble digging out.

Kylie Eccles had six kills, was 11-for-12 serving with one ace and 10 digs in her final high school match for Southwestern while fellow senior Marissa Naylor had six kills, four digs and an ace. Raygan Crawford had five kills on 16-for-18 hitting, Emma Long was 9-for-9 hitting with three kills and two blocks, Meaghan Kramer had 17 digs and 15 assists.

In the Saturday morning semifinal, North Decatur defeated South Decatur in three sets, 25-15, 25-22, 25-9. South Ripley then rolled over North Decatur 3-0 (25-22, 25-18, 25-22) in the championship Saturday night.

Rachel Meyer had 14 kills to lead South Ripley in the opening round win over Austin on Thursday, 19 kills against Southwestern and 14 more kills against North Decatur in the championship. She was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player. Brionna Linkel, Lydia Cornett and Sarah Meyer were also named to the all-tourney team from South Ripley. The entire all-tourney team was not available by deadline.

South Ripley, now 22-11, will take on Linton-Stockton (28-3) in the semifinals of the regional at Mitchell on Saturday.

Southwestern ends the season with a 21-11 record. The 21 wins represent the most the Rebels have had in a season since the 2016 squad went 22-11 and lost in the sectional championship to South Ripley.

Along with Eccles and Naylor, the Rebels also graduate Elle Ford, Kramer and Ashleigh Ream.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Turnovers doom Trimble in 42-24 loss to Gallatin

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Trimble County football suffered its sixth-straight loss while Gallatin County won its third-straight and kept the Wildcats' hopes alive for the second seed in Class 2A, District 5, 42-24 on Friday night in Bedford.

The victory is Gallatin's 12th-straight in the overall series with Trimble. The Raiders have not produced a victory against the Wildcats since a 16-0 district playoff win on Nov. 9, 2007. Friday night's 42 points scored was Gallatin's third biggest point total in the series.

Ultimately it was turnovers and negated opportunities that doomed Trimble in a contest that saw Gallatin pull away late. Jessup Smith's final touchdown run of the night, a 13-yard sprint, paired with Tate Ogburn's successful two-point conversion had the Raiders trailing just 29-24 with 8:58 left in the game but Gallatin scored 13 unanswered points the rest of the way.

At the five minute mark, Joe Roberts scored his second touchdown run of the quarter from 14 yards out and Noel Vera kicked an extra point to return the margin back to 12 at 36-24. The following Gallatin possession less than two minutes later saw Zach Johnson score on a 14-yard run for the final 42-24 margin. Trimble had one more opportunity to put points on the board but turned the ball over on downs as the Wildcats ran out the clock in victory formation.

Trimble's only lead was with 9:25 remaining in the first half. Smith found the end zone from three yards out and then converted a two-point conversion on the ground as the Raiders led 8-6.

That advantage lasted a mere 10 seconds as Gallatin quarterback Logan

Burrow throws 3 TDs as Bengals rout winless Lions

BY LARRY LAGE
ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Burrow was able to rest his voice on the road with a rout, quieting frustrated fans at Ford Field, a week after getting sent to the hospital after taking a hit to the throat.

Burrow tied a career high with three touchdown passes and he helped the Cincinnati Bengals match last year's victory total with a 34-11 rout against the Detroit Lions on Sunday.

"The sky is the limit," Burrow said.

Facing the lowly Lions can certainly help any team play up to its potential.

The Bengals (4-2) were 4-11 last season, a year after winning just two games during coach Zac Taylor's debut season.

Detroit (0-6) trailed 10-0 at halftime and could not rally in the second half as it did in closely contested setbacks against San Francisco, Baltimore and Minnesota. The Lions failed to score until Austin Seibert made a 35-yard field goal midway through the fourth quarter.

"That was brutal," said first-year coach Dan Campbell, who looked and sounded more furious than he did after previous losses. "We weren't even in that fight."

The Lions are the NFL's only winless team this season and have lost 10 straight, going back to last year, for the league's longest active losing streak.

"We have been on an incline, getting better every week, but we didn't do that today," said Detroit cornerback Amani Oruwariye, who picked off Burrow for his career-high third interception. "We still haven't played our best football, but today wasn't close."

Burrow finished 19 of 29 for 271 yards, including a 24-yard touchdown pass to rookie running back Chris Evans on the game's opening drive. He threw a short pass to Joe Mixon on fourth down that the running back turned into a 40-yard score to on the opening possession of the second half to give Cincinnati a 17-0 lead. The second-year quarterback tossed a 2-yard touchdown to C.J. Uzomah early in the fourth, putting the Bengals ahead 27-0.

Burrow did throw one interception, but the Lions failed to take advantage as they did with many opportunities in their latest loss.

Jared Goff was 28 of 42 for 202 yards with an interception.

"The yards per attempts must've been really low," Taylor said. "That was a great showing by our entire defense."

When Goff had a chance to connect with T.J. Hockenson on a potential touchdown pass trailing 7-0 in the second quarter, he threw a pass high and wide.

"I think we were on different pages about where that was going," Goff said. "But I have to hit him in stride and give him a chance."

Detroit turned it over on downs after the next play at the Bengals 38.

By the time Goff started throwing more accurately, it was moot.

Goff connected on some passes during a 13-play, 75-yard drive that was capped by D'Andre Swift's 2-yard run with 2:15 left. Goff made a 2-point conversion pass to cut Detroit's deficit to 23 points as empty seats outnumbered occupied ones at Ford Field.

"That team is not 30 points better than us," Campbell said. "Our focus wasn't there today, and that's on me. When your team gets whipped like that, you have to look at yourself first."

DOING IT ALL

Bengals rookie receiver Ja'Marr Chase had four receptions for 97 yards and sprinted up the field to make a block near the end zone that helped Mixon score.

"When we have guys that are doing that, first-round picks, that says a lot about him as a player and us as a team," said linebacker Logan Wilson, who made his fourth interception and sixth of his 18-game career.

SPUTTERING START

The Lions were shut out in the first half for the third time in four weeks. They haven't scored a touchdown in the first or second quarters since their opening drive in Week 2.

STREAKING

The Bengals have won seven straight in the series since Detroit's previous win in 1992.

INJURIES

Bengals: G Jackson Carman, who returned from the COVID-19 list, left the game in the third quarter because of an illness and Taylor did not have an update on his condition after the game.

UP NEXT

Bengals: at Baltimore next Sunday.

"We've got a big division game coming up and that's where we've struggled," Taylor said.

Lions: at Los Angeles against the Matthew Stafford-led Rams next Sunday.

Goff, who was acquired as part of the Matthew Stafford trade, was asked after the game if he had any early thoughts on facing the Rams.

"No," he said.

Indy gets in sync in win over Houston

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — The Indianapolis Colts finally figured out how to deliver a knockout punch Sunday.

They capitalized on turnovers, made big plays at timely moments and, yes, even managed to protect a late lead.

Carson Wentz threw two long TD passes, Jonathan Taylor ran for two more scores and a stifling defense closed out a critical 31-3 victory over Houston.

"We had to feel what it feels like to win this way," coach Frank Reich said. "Defensively, getting turnovers. Offensively, getting those chunk plays, and special teams playing solid. It was a good step, but we know we've got to get a lot better."

For the Colts, it was a desperately needed turnaround just six days after a national television audience watched their embarrassing fourth-quarter collapse at Baltimore.

This time, the Colts seized control quickly in the second half — and the defense held up against the struggling Texans, who have lost five straight.

Indy, meanwhile, has won two of its last three and can move within one game of the AFC South lead — if Buffalo beats Tennessee on Monday.

Now, the Colts have some momentum and perhaps a successful blueprint to use in the final 11 games.

"The way we were able to finish this game, the right way, I think was big to help us get going," Wentz said.

What changed from Monday?

Indy's offense delivered a decisive second-half scoring flurry — and the defense never backed down.

Two-time All-Pro linebacker Darius Leonard picked off rookie quarterback Davis Mills on Houston's first play of the third quarter. Wentz capitalized two plays later with a 28-yard TD pass to Mo Alie-Cox for a 17-3 lead.

Taylor started Indy's next series with an 83-yard run and capped it with a 4-yard TD rush to make it 24-3.

The Texans spent the rest of the game playing catch-up and getting nowhere as Taylor sealed the victory with an 11-yard TD run with 4:47 left.

All Houston could muster was Ka'imi Fairbairn's 31-yard field goal.

"I felt like when we came out in the second half, it was very important for us to get a stop and we got the stop," coach David Culley said. "But the next series, we throw an interception and then they get a big play and then it snowballed from there."

Bennett, D lead No. 1 Georgia past Kentucky

BY PAUL NEWBERRY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

ATHENS, Ga. — The final seconds were meaningless.

Except to the Georgia defense.

For the first time all season, the fearsome Bulldogs gave up two touchdowns in a game Saturday. It didn't really matter as they romped to another victory — their first as the nation's new No. 1 team — with a 30-13 triumph over No. 11 Kentucky.

Still, their desire to keep Kentucky from scoring at the end, and the lengths the Wildcats went to for their second TD, epitomized where Georgia's at right now.

The Bulldogs (7-0, 5-0 Southeastern Conference) aren't content just to win.

They want to bury opponents.

"There may only be 4 seconds left in the fourth quarter, but we still don't want anybody in our end zone," linebacker Adam Anderson said. "I'm still hurting right now."

Stetson Bennett, starting his third straight game in place of injured JT Daniels, threw for 250 yards and three touchdown passes — two of them to freshman tight end Brock Bowers.

With the game decided, Kentucky (6-1, 4-1) drove to a first down at the Georgia 1 in the final minute.

Will Levis was stuffed on a quarterback sneak. JuTahn McClain was stopped for no gain. Instead of letting the clock run out, the Wildcats called their final timeout.

Finally, they scored. Levis delivered a quick slant to Wan'Dale Robinson, who dove into the end zone with 4 seconds remaining, while what was left of the crowd at Sanford Stadium booed loudly.

Georgia's defense had given up only two touchdowns all season. Kentucky managed to double that total, though the Bulldogs weren't done yet.

Clearly angry, they blocked the extra point to keep one last point off the board.

"It's just pride," said coach Kirby Smart, whose team is surrendering a miniscule 6.6 points a game. "When you're competing at the highest levels to be the best in the country, that doesn't change — regardless of the scoreboard or the time on the clock."

The Bulldogs limited Kentucky to 243 total yards, while also blocking a field-goal attempt on the final play of the third quarter.

"They're a great defense," Levis said. "I think we were able to do some things that we're going to be proud of looking at the tape, but could've had opportunities to do a little more."

Sitting at 6-0 for the first time since 1950, the Wildcats pulled out all stops, even running a hook and lateral. But they followed up 330 yards rushing in a win over LSU with a mere 51 yards on the ground against Georgia.

Leading only 14-7 at halftime, the Bulldogs took the second-half kickoff and drove 75 yards in six plays to effectively finish off the Wildcats and gain a stranglehold on the SEC East race.

An apparent 59-yard touchdown pass to Bowers was negated by a holding penalty, but Bennett connected again with the freshman in the right corner of the end zone for a 27-yard score that did stand.

Bowers had another TD on a 20-yard play with about 11½ minutes remaining to make it 30-7. He finished with five receptions for 101 yards.

After a scoreless opening quarter, Georgia scored on back-to-back possessions. James Cook took a short pass 19 yards to the end zone, and Zamir White followed with a 24-yard scoring burst right up the middle.

Late in the first half, Kentucky finally got something going.

Catching a break when a video review overturned a fumble call, the Wildcats covered 75 yards in 13 plays, converting three times on third down. Levis capped it off with a 1-yard touchdown pass to Justin Rigg.

FOOTBALL

Hammond hit Ashton Gullion on a 49-yard pass play for touchdown on the ensuing possession and Hammond's two-point conversion pass to Logan Riddle made it 14-8.

A three-yard scamper by Devan Schleuter and Vera extra point put the Wildcats in front 21-8 at halftime.

Smith accounted for two rushing touchdowns for the Raiders and a touchdown reception. His catch for a score came on an 11-yard pass from quarterback JT Wilcoxson with 4:25 left in the third quarter that had Trimble trailing just 21-16 heading into the final frame.

Roberts scored two touchdown runs and Johnson had one for Gallatin while Hammond threw a touchdown pass to Gullion and Riddle — a 33-yard pass in the opening quarter. The Wildcats have scored in double figures in all three of their wins this season after three straight contests of less than 10 points to open the year.

Gallatin, 3-4, and 3-1 in district play, heads to Carroll County on Friday night where the Panthers are also 3-1 in the district. The winner clinches the two seed for the district playoffs and will host a first-round postseason game.

Trimble (1-7) hosts district foe Walton-Verona (6-3) on Friday. The Bearcats already clinched first place in the district by beating Shawnee 34-8 last Friday night.

CARROLL BEATS OWEN 28-19

Carroll County picked up its fifth win of the season with a hard-fought 28-19 decision at Owen County on Friday.

The Panthers, forced to forfeit their first three games of the season due to COVID issues, improved to 5-1 in games actually played on the field and 3-1 in District 5. Carroll wraps up the regular season at home on Friday against Gallatin County in a game to decide the No. 2 seed in the playoffs.

MILAN ROLLS OVER PACERS 47-6

Milan started off quickly and never looked back, ripping Switzerland County 47-6 in the regular-season finale for both teams Friday in Vevay.

The Indians scored 26 points in the first quarter to open a big early lead and then added two more touchdowns in the second and one in the third before Switzerland scored late on a touchdown run by Colton Skaggs to break the shutout.

Milan's balanced attacked produced 128 yards on the ground and 122 through the air. Brayden Rohrig was 6-of-7 passing for 99 yards and a touchdown and rushed for 40 yards and two scores. Cameron Gilb had 60 yards rushing on 10 attempts and a touchdown.

Switzerland was limited to just 22 total yards in the game, all on the ground. Skaggs had 24 yards rushing on two carries to go with six tackles, one for loss, on defense. Gavin Reese had seven tackles and Brevin May and Carl Abplanalp each recovered a fumble.

Switzerland, now 2-6 on the season, hosts Providence on Friday in the opening round of the Class 2A Sectional Tournament.

Rally falls short as Shawe loses to Lanesville

BY JORDAN BEAR

SELLERSBURG — It was a heartbreaking night for Shawe's volleyball team with a five-set loss to Lanesville in the championship match of the Class A Sectional at Rock Creek on Saturday.

The Hilltoppers had swept four-time defending sectional champion Rock Creek in the morning semifinals. But as well as Shawe played in that match, the Hilltoppers played just the opposite in the championship against Lanesville.

Shawe dropped the first two sets against Lanesville 25-20 and 25-16. Nervous and tentative, the young Hilltoppers were unable to get any kind of groove going while falling apart in the second-set loss.

"Give credit to Lanesville in those first two sets. They outplayed us and we simply had no answer," Shawe coach Jeff Lawson said. "I think the girls thought this would be a little easier, but they quickly realized it wasn't."

Despite the second-set collapse, the Hilltoppers were able to wake up in the third set and crawl back into the match. The set went back and forth before Shawe pulled out a 25-23 victory to stay alive. The Hilltoppers then dominated the fifth set 25-16 to force the winner-take-all fifth set.

But Shawe seemed gassed by the physical and emotional marathon by the tiebreaker and Lanesville led from start to finish to win 15-6 and claim just their second sectional championship

Silver Creek rolls over Madison in 3A sectional rematch

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Madison's hopes of winning its first sectional title in four years fell apart quickly as Silver Creek rolled to an easy 3-0 win in the semifinals of the Class 3A Sectional at Scottsburg on Saturday morning.

The Cubs had knocked off Creek in five sets earlier in the season but any thoughts of a repeat performance were dashed quickly as the Dragons rolled to the 25-18, 25-8, 25-18 win.

Madison found itself quickly in deep holes in each of the first two sets. The Cubs trailed 11-1 in the opener, but rebounded to close the gap to 20-15 before Silver Creek put away the win.

The second set was a disaster start to finish. After playing to a 2-2 tie early, the Cubs seemed powerless as Creek ripped off an 18-2 run to take a commanding 20-4 lead before cruising to the 25-8 win.

The third set was by far the best for Madison but the end result was the same. The Cubs trailed only 15-13 at one point but ended up losing by seven.

Madison managed only 16 kills in the match with Chloe Preocanin picking up eight kills on 35 attempts and Kallie Eder getting six on 20 attempts. Preocanin also led the team in digs with nine while Eder had eight.

Ava Armbrecht was 10-of-13 serving with two aces and also had 11 assists, Taylor Harsin was 10-of-12 serving with an ace, two kills, and eight digs, Lexi Sullivan had eight digs, and Brooklyn Cornelius had six digs.

Silver Creek went on to defeat Scottsburg in the championship match, 25-20, 25-19, 25-14. The Dragons will take on Barr-Reeve in the regional semifinals Saturday at Charlestown.

Madison ends the volleyball season with a strong 20-9 record, its first winning season since the 2017 team went 25-11 and won its first sectional title in 20 years. That squad was also eliminated by Silver Creek, but in the regional round.

The Cubs graduate four seniors: Cornelius, Harsin, Addi Mundt and Jenna Rohrer, but also return several key starters including hitters Preocanin and Eder and setter Armbrecht.

in school history.

"The fifth set was all going to come down to who wanted it more, and they simply wanted it more than us," Lawson said. "Congratulations to Lanesville, they earned it."

Shawe finished the season with a terrific 20-9 record, setting the school record for wins in a season. The Hilltoppers say goodbye to their lone senior, Lina Leatherman, who helped lead Shawe into the winning program it has become in the last two seasons.

"Give credit to Lanesville in those first two sets. They outplayed us and we simply had no answer."

— Jeff Lawson
Shawe head coach

"Lina has been our leader. She's been so great with the team and has been such a big reason why we've had such a great year," Lawson said. "I know she's hurting, she's been the best. We will definitely miss her."

Shawe returns everybody else for next season and Lawson knows the Hilltoppers can be great once again.

"We may not be super deep but man we're young. Losing Lina hurts, but we have so much coming back and we are ready to be bigger and better than ever," the coach said. "This isn't the end for us."

One player Shawe will have coming back next year is freshman Allison Knoebel, who said she's ready to put in work in the off-season to be ready for next season.

"We're going to play travel ball, work hard, and get better," an emotional Knoebel said.

"We're going to come back stronger mentally and physically and we'll be ready. We're going to be ready."
